

THE CONFIDENCE OF A SECOND OPINION

Are you unsure about the treatment your doctor has recommended, or are you wondering if a drug or operation is really necessary and advisable? In such cases, a second opinion can ease your doubts and bring you confidence and security. An objective assessment of your first diagnosis by another specialist will ensure that you receive the best possible treatment.

Our specialists will be glad to provide you with a second opinion. In fact, you can even ask us for a second opinion online from the comfort of your own home. You can upload your medical documentation via a unique programme and fill in our specially-designed questionnaires to provide us with all the information we need.

One of our specialists will take over your case from here. You can check the status of your request at any time online. We'll let you know as soon as your second opinion is ready for you to view online. The complete dossier will include your second opinion, your specialist's CV, and the profile of the clinic where you can seek treatment.

The cost of putting together a second opinion is CHF 900. In case of an inpatient treatment via Hirslanden International, this amount will be deducted from the treatment costs.
